

GEOGRAPHICAL OPENING

Coordinators would have to observe how to achieve geographical "decolumnization", because they are risking the whole process by having columns in a single place where any accident may occur. Besides, that creates mental columns. Coordinators must open other geographical areas. When coordinators open another place, they have to sustain it, they must generate materials, make trips, coordinate, qualify, etc. It is difficult, it is much easier to be concentrated in a single place, but that has no future. Let us become planetary, since the start that has been our project.
